

Background

Prince William Partnerships for Health is one of forty-one local communities throughout the United States participating in a Robert Wood Johnson and W.K. Kellogg Foundations three-year strategic planning process. The goal of this strategic planning process is the development of a community health improvement plan that focuses on systems change within our community health system. Each local partnership was given autonomy to choose the methods and process for developing the community health improvement plan for their community.

Prince William Partnerships for Health chose a two-part process for gathering information about our community and its citizens. First, the Partnership sponsored a series of thirty community forums: 15 for professionals in health-related fields and 15 for the general public. The information from these forums will be analyzed and combined with the information found in this report to develop the foundation for our community health improvement plan.

The second data collection activity was a community data compilation that examines community programs, services, data, and partnerships. Agency and program directors were interviewed over a 4-month period using a standardized interview tool. The information was entered into a standardized database and compiled into the format found on the following pages. The purpose of this data collection is outlined below:

- r To identify health-related programs in our community including the services offered, populations served, and geographic area served
- r To describe the kinds of health-related data being collected in our community
- r To determine the level of collaboration being done in our community
- r To identify gaps in data and services
- r To identify opportunities for increased collaboration and partnership
